

Boyzone

"Back In The Day"

Visit "Back In The Day" on MotoLyrics.com

By Lauren Christy, Scott Spock, Graham Edwards and Ronan Keating

(Back in the days, back in the days)

She left me all alone,
She told me on the phone
Now that just don't seem right
I will close my eyes,
And turn out all the lights
But I won't cry tonight, 'cause I'm Already sleeping

All of those things are in the past,
Like a beaten up faded photograph
Can't remember your name,
Who are you again?
You're history, history, yeah

Back in the day, my my hey hey
No more living for yesterday
Come on and kiss me, I will prove that there's
More to me than you

Back in the day, my my hey hey
You don't love me that's okay
I'm moving on and moving out
Think I can't pull through just
Watch me without you

She always picked a fight, every other night
And she was always right, yeah right
Now I won't be a fool,
I guess I broke some rules
But I broke them on my own,
When you were with someone else at night
All of those things are in the past,
Like a beaten up faded photograph
Can't remember your name,
Who are you again?
You're history, history yeah

Back in the day, my my hey hey
No more living for yesterday
Come on and kiss me, I will prove that there's
More to me than you

Back in the day, my my hey hey
You don't love and that's okay
I'm moving on and moving out
Think I can't pull through just
Watch me without you

There's a time, punching the wall,
Dying to call, willing to crawl
No way, whatever, whatever,
I guess we're not meant to be together
That's okay

Back in the day, my my hey hey
No more living for yesterday
Come on and kiss me, I will prove that there's
More to me than you

Back in the day, my my hey hey
You don't love and that's okay
I'm moving on and moving out
Think I can't pull through just
Watch me without you

Visit Boyzone page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.