Alone just sitting here
Thinking of you 'til it hurts
You're young so innocent
Without a care in the world
You're there, but not visible
My expectations become
Do you think it's right?
And do you think it's right?
Crying in the night
For crying in the night
(ooh in the night)
My road was different
There's so much that you have to learn
A little hand in mine
And all the smiles and laughter is fine
Wherever I'll be, land or sea
I will care for thee
Do you think it's right?
And do you think it's right?
Crying in the night

For crying in the night
(ooh in the night)
Each day provides its own gifts
Time brings all to pass
Writing comes more easily
When you got something to say
You're young, you're beautiful
Have no enemy but time
And in time, those who take time
When time does last
For time is no time
When time is past
Do you think it's right?
And do you think it's right?
Crying in the night
