

Bradley Hopkins

"All That Obvious"

Visit "All That Obvious" on MotoLyrics.com

Everytime you talk to me
I studder all my words
Everytime you look my way
It gets harder to say
Because I've fallen head over heels
Faster than a speeding light
Knowing everything's gonna be alright
Until the end of the night

Is it all that obvious
I bet you can see right through me
It's really not that hard to tell
Do I even ring a bell in your mind
Or should I stay behind the disguise

When I can't see you
I would be wishing that you were here
And I can't control my fear
Of you seeing, hearing, knowing
About my little secret
I know you know what they know
This is the time to go

Is it all that obvious
I bet you can see right through me
It's really not that hard to tell
Do I even ring a bell in your mind
Or should I stay behind the disguise

It gets harder and harder everyday
Now may be the time to say
Everything that I love about you
I wish you already knew
So I wouldn't have to tell you

Is it all that obvious
I bet you can see right through me
It's really not that hard to tell
Do I even ring a bell in your mind
Or should I stay behind the disguise

