How could I ever forget
We fell in love at first sight
We were both young
And had no other cares
But life just grew up apart

Every once in a while
I'll look back on
All the great memories
Every once in a while
I'll remember those special feelings
That no one could replace
Every once in a while

Lets just both admit
That we did things that were wrong
We both said
Some things that weren't true
This was where it went bad

Every once in a while
I'll look back on
All the great memories
Every once in a while
I'll remember those special feelings
That no one could replace
Every once in a while

Love, heratache, heart break
Love, heratache, heart break
Love, heratacke, heart break
Every couple goes through these things
But we could of made it through
So why didn't we try

Every once in a while
I'll look back on
All the great memories
Every once in a while
I'll remember those special feelings
That no one could replace
Every once in a while
