If I cried, I would be classified
And you would deny
All the things you have done
Because you just can't admit
I'm tired of being pissed

But am I really the one to blame
We seem to have a black cloud
Hovering above our heads
And it won't stop raining

I am weak, but strong
When I want to cry no tears come out
For I have cried many time before
I have cried rivers and streams
But, all have come from tears of a tiger

I had to keep it inside
So no one else would know
The pain that I have left unspoken
But maybe, it's time to unlock the door
To just let my emotions pour

But am I really the one to blame
We seem to have a black cloud
Hovering above our heads
And it won't stop raining

I am weak, but strong
When I want to cry no tears come out
For I have cried many time before
I have cried rivers and streams
But, all have come from tears of a tiger

No more time to be scared
No more time to despair
I am running out of time
But time is what I need
There's not enough to think
Not enough to listen
Everybody just shut up
Let me get my head straight

I am weak, but strong
When I want to cry no tears come out
For I have cried many time before
I have cried rivers and streams
But, all have come from tears of a tiger

I feel as though
I am the only one who understands
Taking so many responsibiltes
But, I am only human
I can't handel it all

I am weak, but strong
When I want to cry no tears come out
For I have cried many time before
I have cried rivers and streams
But, all have come from tears of a tiger
