Is it any wonder
I hold you so tight It's because we're never promised one more day or night

Remember

There will never be another you another me
another life for us to live
to give each other all we give time goes by so fast
I want to make each moment last
I want to hold you close to me and show you all our love can be
I won't let go too easily
there will never be another you and me

I know love can hurt us and love can make us fly I know I was born to love you till the day I die

Believe me

There will never be
to give each other all we give
time goes by so fast
I want to make each moment last
I want to hold you close to me
and show you all our love can be
there will never be another you and me

No...

There will never be

I want to make each moment last
I want to hold you close to me
and show you all our love can be
