To miss someone can be the worst experience you ever made.

Hold on to your dreams, you will remember the good times, they're waiting for you.

It's been a long time coming

I'm tired of failing you, face the truth

when you're by my side

Choose to be blind

Change your mind

I loose my way but still you understand

Just hold my hand, and always be so sure

Can't you ignore drowning in...in a heartache

Aimlessly rushing leaves you with nothing

you need me,

I know where I'm going to,

Gonna take me there to you nothing more to do

So far away from me

Something's comin' over me

So far away from me

Be forever the man I should be

Another dawn is yet to come

Carry on

The night has just begun

Troubled days have come and gone

How can I prove, that I've done nothing wrong

all that I want

And it's plain to see

Don't blame me

When the moon gives it's light, what takes me down to hell

I'll fly into a church of dreams, they ring the bell

Hopeless souls, let you down blame on myself,

Throw my heart in the wishing well
