I always knew it was everything I imagined cause
I knew the time would come
When I would be a patient flyer
The earth whispers a light
It cuts right threw the darkness
You knew were needing a route
Way on this journey we are bound upon
Come with no course of destination
Lead by our instincts and guided by determination
Traces of loneliness becoming our companion Assured that we will some day return to where it all began
Life is sacred
So we have forgotten
Help us to understand
What we leave behind us
Pain and hardships will only start to ever
Lead us to the place that we are after
With every day we get stronger in our struggle
I was standing out without a load and I was off Doing what we can to maintain the ties that hold together
Our spirits tied to bodies regardless of whatever
We encounter on this journey to be all we imagined Knowing that the limits may be beyond what we can fathom
Taking my life as far as we can
began
Life is sacred
So we have forgotten
Help us to understand
What we leave behind us
Pain and hardships will only start to ever
Lead us to the place that we are after
Awakening
To the possibilities that I reflect
Awakening
All the sacred gifts that weve been given (x2)
All the sacred gifts that weve been given
Life is sacred

So we have forgotten
Help us to understand
What we leave behind us
Pain and hardships will only start to ever
Lead us to the place that we are after (x2)
