

Brea

"Pretty"

Visit "Pretty" on MotoLyrics.com

A day will come to find you
There'll be no words to say
What it feels like to be here and to go away
I never say what I think
The sound is too disturbing
When you are all alone
There'll be no sound to hear
To help you understand how it feels to disappear
I never say what I think
Words can be so misleading
When you are all alone I will be here
Fly up so high to find out how falling angels feel
When skies come crashing down
When all the pain is gone
It will be calm inside
A scarred and tired heart never will be denied
I never say what I feel
You're pretty and so unreal
I'll never understand my foolish pride
Fly up so high to find out how falling angels feel
When skies come crashing down what will the stars reveal?
Inside the burning ground it's too late to save me now
When skies come crashing down
All fall down
Fly up so high to find out how falling angels feel
When skies come crashing down what will the stars
reveal?
Inside the burning ground it's too late to save me now
Fly up so high to find out how falling angels feel When there are no places to hide no hidden truths to conceal
Inside the burning ground it's too late to save me now
When skies come crashing down
This is the final sound
An angel hits the ground
The stars will all fall down

Visit Brea page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
