The train is leaving town tonight, departure time 12 o'clock Destination disappointment, all aboard a train going fucking no where
But it's all I have, it's the only way to get away and still dream

So many people have come and gone, why am I the only one left?
Why am I still holding on? Is this why I'm all alone?

I'm watching the train pass me by,
I'm leaving this all behind,
I'm slowly finding my way
My way without you

It's time I open my eyes,
And tell myself, some dreams don't last Some dreams don't last I'm sorry I couldn't last forever
I can't live in the past forever
I can't live your life
I won't live your life
