If patience works
Then this I have
There are just some things
That break my back.
The truth as it is
Is walking beside you.
The truth is you do care
The fact is
That I don't think you should.
A new try at nothing
Never solved any sorrows
It just pushes you
One more day away.
It's late, very late in the day.
I found you here
Saying "Here I'll stay"
Now I have to ask
Just what kind of game was that?

Say it Say it Say it
When are you going to give in to this?
Say it now Say it now Say it now
When are you going to give in to this?
Where are the cards
That you put by for a rainy day?
Gathering dust with the nerve
That you lost with your first mistake
I can't imagine what you might do
If you ever found the need to follow suit

Throwing out the plans
Bailing out the chance
Say what you like now.
One day I'll run
But the days seem to roll away
Somewhere under the sun.
It's a sad thing
A very thin excuse.
Say it Say it Say it
When are you going to give in to this?
Say it now Say it now Say it now

When are you going to give in to this?

Throwing out the plans
Bailing out the chance
Oh, just say what you like
Because looking back,
Looking back
I'm the fool here
And it's not the first time
Say it Say it Say it
When are you going to give in to this?
Say it now Say it now Say it now
When are you going to give in to this?
Where are the cards
That you put by for a rainy day?
Gathering dust with the nerve
That you lost with your first mistake
I can't imagine what you might do
If you ever found the need to follow suit.

Are you laughing now?
Are you laughing now?
I already know
I've said as much as I should say
But there's so much more
Tearing at the heart of me.
The best made plans
Fall flat on the ground
You'd think I'd know
Enough by now
To safely say
There's just no way
I'd let things get so out of hand
Well here I am again
Are you laughing now?
Are you laughing now?
