I'm going to miss you But it's better now I'm going to miss you Now you're never coming back Why should I defend What's always been so good here? You've made your point so very well Simply by not being here Always. I've told myself you're never coming back. Now you're gone What'll I do? Right now I'm thinking how much I want it all back Right now I don't want anyone else How can I help myself? How can I? Now you're gone What'll I do? Right now and always? Right now I don't want anyone else But it's better now It's better now By far.
