Well that's not the first time, But I would't know where to begin. There was so much there to keep us together, and me here to pull it apart. I saw so much that just wasn't anything, I saw it clearer than daylight, I saw so much.....you and me. Do you feel anything anymore! I do. Do you feel anything at all? I do. Well that's not the first time that nothing made sense, Everything I thought I saw meant something else. You fooled me. I saw the effort you made, So I couldn't believe it when you let your feelings show You fell, like I did, somewhere between hapiness and heartache, Between a good thing and something better. Well forget all that.
Take me home, I don't only want to dream about you anymore. Just take me home.
