I had so much love to give you. I had so much love to give you. I gave it all to you and never looked back. No, no and never looked back. How could you forget when you know me more, much more, than anyone that I know. You're waiting for a sign to prove you're needed here. You never see what you can't hear, you will not find the time. You're taking it all wrong, you think that no one cares. You never see the hurt you cause You never find the time. I'd be so glad You'd be so wrong I'd be so glad to see you. I'd be so glad You'd be so wrong I'd be so glad to see you. And I kept going on, but I don't know why You couldn't wait to read it all wrong. (I know what you'll say) You never recognized the way I felt Now, help me get over it. When you come back Just take your time Don't throw away the friend you once knew. Just remember, I'm still waiting here for you. (How do you like it?)
