The truth be known,
The magic's back in my heart again...
It's sad I know.
You leap up before me,
Are you back now to haunt me?
On just one night when I pushed you aside,
I knew what was done was done.
Well if I knew then,
Just what I know now;
That I'd lose you,
As I couldn't tell you,
How I need you.
I need you

Well it's a funny old world
When you're so long on your own

And you fall in love,
Well, in and out of love again
Well it's wrong, wrong, wrong
I've been on my own for too long
Yes it's wrong, wrong, wrong
To be on your own for so long

I think of you, think of you... everyday
Do you think of me, think of me... ever?
I count every day you're gone away
I count them all, I do.
Over and over and over and over.
