(verse 1)

"Why did I let you in again", she said.
She promised him and her no more.
It was such a common problem.
It's all he used her for.

Two years down the road the problem's gone.
'Cause she changed towns and her life moved on.
But new lies and habits form again.

(chorus)

When will I feel true love, and not be used and thrown around.
When will they want me for who I am.
When will life settle down.
When will they want me for who I am.
Not be used and thrown around
When will I feel love

(verse 2)

She runs into his arms to find herself
And all she finds is pain from someone else
And every time she says, "never again"

Don't want to run around 'no more.
Because deep inside she knows she's worth much more
And all she really wants is to feel love

(Chorus)
