Mom and dad are not happy they fight every night
They can't even get through just one day without a fight
Mom and dad don't notice me they work six days a week
Sundays we all go to church but we don't even speak

Re-bel!
Re-bel!
Your parents have failed you and I'm here to tell you
Re-bel!
Re -bel!
The world has abused you and I'm here to choose you

My step dad he hates me so he hits me all the time
But when we're around people he acts like we're all fine
My real dad he left us all one day when I was four Mom got drunk and told me that my dad loved me no more

The blood has poured out just like dust
Just read the writing on the wall
You're so consumed with your lust
You do not fear my word at all
It's time I break your family curse
Of lies, neglect, abuse and shame
You'll have to give me your life first
You'll never be the same
You're not alone anymore
If you knock I'll open the door
Don't forget about the golden rule
Love me with all your heart
If you give me just that one request
We will never be apart
Your life it means so much to me
You've been abused in every way
Everyone on earth has let you down now come try me
They're breakin they're takin you down, they're Willin to kill you right now they're
Breakin they're takin you down
They're They're They're
