I thought I'd be waiting forever to find you it freaks me out to think their have been others who loved you

I know their's no one better who touch you the way that you ought to be always trying to pull myself back cause I don't wanna push you too hard but I've completely fallen

I might be coming on strong but I don't believe I've started start with living cause I keep thinking I've done everything I can they told me I'm your man I don't get people who live life in circles they must go mad

watching it slip through their fingers time goes slow when their's nothing to fight for they'd probaly laugh at me I'm sure

I try to hold myself back cause I don't won't to push to hard but I've completely fallen

started start with living if I keep thinking if I done everything I can they told me I'm your man watching over you and I trust me with this makes me feel alive always trying to hold myself back cause

I don't wanna push you too hard but I've completely fallen I might be coming on strong but I don't believe I've started start with living if I keep thinking if I've done everything I can they told me I'm your man I'm your man yes I'm your man
