Sometimes I feel I live a life designed for someone else
The luck I had was never mine, I took it anyway
It must be hard to see beyond today, if you think you got everything If it's so good then why complain
I think I must have been sleep walking
maybe that's how I got lost
And when you wake me without a warning
Leaving me dazed and confused
Then suddenly,
Everything that i got is everything that i'm not
And everything that I want to be lately aah, it's drifting out of reach
What have I got to do Oh tell me how can I prove that all I really want is you lately
aah, i'm turning inside out
You crossed the line that keeps me safe You're breaking my defenses How can I protect my eyes, If I can't look away Within, without you take me down and you strip me off everything You know me better than myself
I think I spent my life sleep walking I never knew who I was
And when you wake me without a warning
Leaving me dazed and confused
Then suddenly,
Everything that i got is everything that im not
And everything that I want to be lately
aah, it's drifting out of reach
What have I got to do
Oh tell me how can I prove
aah, i'm turning inside out
Your words tear me up My world upside down

Don't want to get out Now you're inside my head
What have I got to do
Oh tell me how can I prove
That all I really want is you lately
aah, im turning inside out.
