I miss your presence but sure we've all lost something
It comes from inside, it's the love that we could give In return for the love that you gave
You were silenced by a life that had gone wrong
And time will never drift our tears along
We miss our darling... oh won't you come back

In a second we can realise mistakes that we have made
So where's your second chance my darling Mira Won't you say you'll never change

If only you knew who you touched until the end
If only confidence could be drilled into a head Maybe then you'd have realised we'd all have done anything for you
Now we won't bump ourselves up the queue for your heart
When there's so many who had loved you from the start
We're just message boys, who barely knew you

So I'll sit here with all my patience and I'll praise our special time
From the moment we laid eyes on you my darling
Well you changed our lonely lives
