It's got to be different, it's got to be different,
There's got to be space for a new start
It's got to be different, it's got to be different,
There's got to be space for a new start

I need a room for you and me and no one else
To take the worst of us and send us back to hell
This isn't so clever, but this isn't weak
We were happy together

I will find a helpless life I'm ready to call this forever
It's killing time
Sell the scene, take the money and run from me
I will take away everything and leave nothing more
Senselessly, I won't share in your victory
Or forgive my enemies, I suffer the loss

Please let me be a shadow of my former self
Because I've been torn in two, my life a living hell
This isn't so clever, but this isn't weak
We were happy together

I will find a helpless life I'm ready to call this forever
It's killing time
Sell the scene, take the money and run from me
I will take away everything and leave nothing more
Senselessly, I won't share in your victory
Or forgive my enemies, I suffer the loss

Sell the scene, take the money and run from me
I will take away everything and leave nothing more
Senselessly, I won't share in your victory
Or forgive my enemies, I suffer the loss
