Well, once I gave a look to you
But you never gave it back
So here I stand expressionless
But my memory's intact

I guess the past is good for a laugh
A comedy so dry and black
It makes my stomach hurt so bad
I cried

A two thumbs up we give this one
Despite its predictable ending
Dialog seemed rushed and wrong
But the actors did their best

To lay some worth on every word
Like coffins dropped into the earth
The saddest sound I ever heard
We sang along

We sang it, take this weight away
We sang it, take this weight away, let's sing it
We sang it, take this weight away
Away, away
