This town needs a break from you, and you haven't the slightest clue.

Well I heard about all the lies you told me
And how you snuck out all those nights I thought you were sound asleep,
And in case you didn't know I'm not running away,
I built this place from the ground and I'm here to stay.

So let the party begin and pass me the coke and gin,
It's 2am and I'm still standing on two feet
This is all I need it's your everyday Friday night
And I'm not running away.

We can only go forward from here.
I'm beginning to see things crystal clear
And I heard your screams from over the horizon
But rest assure it'll go unannounced.

So let the party begin and pass me the coke and gin,
It's 2am and I'm still standing on two feet
This is all I need it's your everyday Friday night
And I'm not running away.

Just in case you didn't know I'm not running away,
I built this place from the ground and I'm here...

So let the party begin and pass me the coke and gin,
It's 2am and I'm still standing on two feet
This is all I need it's your everyday Friday night
And I'm not running away.
