Just stop, shut up
You are your worst enemy in this situation
I can't help you now you know you can't Read between the lines
I am guiding you straight into the fine print
It seems like you fail to understand
This is a game and you are losing
I've been winning so far envy is a conditional sin

Take your time just take a deep breath
You've got blood on your hands
You need to wash it of right now
It really doesn't even matter because
Your fingerprints are everywhere

I pulled the trigger
You'll never know why
You'll never know how
You know you'll never find me guilty and you seem
A little bothered that I've got you in the palm of my

So let's pretend that this is ordinary
Just a common occurrence of circumstance
Blame the die on luck
Oh deny that fate has a certain ironic taste
Something that you can't describe
It's all set up right now you only just found out
I read the cards before they fell into account

Take your time just take a deep breath
You had got blood on your hands
You tried to wash it of right now
It really doesn't even matter because
Your fingerprints are everywhere

I pulled the trigger
You'll never know why
You'll never know how
You know you'll never find me guilty and you seem
A little bothered would you like a glass of water ma'am?

So much time wasted playing games
It's over now
But end the end, who knows who's to blame?
Let's find out
So every time you look at me
You'll know now (You'll know now) (You'll know now)
That it was all planned out

I pulled the trigger
You'll never know why
You'll never know how

I pulled the trigger
You'll never know why
You'll never know how
You know you'll never find me guilty and you seem
A little bothered that I've got you in the palm of my
Ohhh Yeah, Yeah, Yeah

A little bothered that I have got you, right in the palm of my hand
