

Barbara Mandrell"I'll Leave Something Good Behind"

Visit "I'll Leave Something Good Behind" on MotoLyrics.com

Well at times it's been a fight
but I've tried to do what's right
even when everything went wrong
I still believed that we would make it

you put your tiny hand in mine and I look in your trusting eyes knowing that love will see us through but if my life should end tomorrow
I know you'll be the living proof

And, I'll leave something good behind you sweet child of mine
you've made my life worth living
and when all my earthly days are through I'll leave here knowing I did what I came to do and when I say goodbye I know that I'll leave something good behind

Well at times it's been a fight
but I've tried to do what's right
even when everything went wrong
I still believed that we would make it
It hasn't always turned out like I planned but I've done the best I can to help you someday face the world alone And after I've been long forgotten you'll be my leagacy of love

And, I'll leave something good behind
you sweet child of mine
you've made my life worth living
and when all my earthly days are through
I'll leave here knowing I did what I came to do
and when I say goodbye I know that
I'll leave something good behind

Yes, when I say goodbye I know that I'll leave something good behind

