I can not understand, justify, or comprehend Giving up my freedom of thought just to fit in You don't even miss free will, brainwashed to the point you'd kill
A fellow man because he doesn't share your point of view

Spread your beliefs where will it end? How can you even try to defend Your stolen holidays from pagan superstition

Learn from the mistakes of past, religious science just can't last
It really is all right to admit, "we don't understand"

Just because everyone believes in something Isn't enough to make it true
There always has to be someone to wake up the world

Anti missionary
I don't believe
