We got the street lights
We got the evergreens of gold
Come on and meet us
But you can never beat us in this game
We're young and wreckless
We were like diamonds in the mine
We're at the station
Waiting on a train that never comes

But don't you call us wishful thinkers

I think we're growing up too fast
And these days are coming bash
I think we're growing up too fast
But we're young and built to last

We're out of patience
A runaway generation, lost
This time we really mean it
Everything you got, we want it now

But don't you call us wishful thinkers

I think we're growing up too fast
And these days are coming bash
I think we're growing up too fast
But we're young and built to last

I thought I saw a tend to see
A notion that you'd take us serious
I thought I found a remedy
A chance for you to do obvious about it

I think we're growing up too fast
And these days are coming bash (Ohohooh)
I think we're growing up too fast
But we're young and built to last

Mmmm
