It's been such a long time, since we lost our spark
All those lover smiles, had me shadowed into dark
I think we tried it all, but we found a way
To get it back

And learn how to play the game that lovers do
Become the team just me and you
And I hope

To open up and let it flow
To find the love and let it grow
And I know

What we need is

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my dream away

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my life away

How long will it take til we know,
What it is we fear,
The cause of all pain,
The cause of all tears

I think we cried them all,
But we found a way,
To get it back

And learn how to play the game that lovers do
Become the team just me and you
And I know

To open up and let it flow
To find the love and let it grow
And I know

What we need is

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my dream away

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my life away

Do I have to let you go (do I have to let you go)
Do I have to let you know (do I have to let you know)
Do I have to let you go (do I have to let you go)

What I believe is

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my dream away

(One love, one heart)
(One love, one heart)

(One love, one heart)
(One love, one heart)

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my dream away

One love, one heart
Straight back to the place where we started,
Before the heartache came and took my life away
