

Bronx Casket Co. "Black Valentine"

Visit "Black Valentine" on MotoLyrics.com

Life goes on and on with little things unnoticed
I won't take the time, you won't understand Love can find a way into the corner room where only few can go and fewer can remain
No need to hide your pain, no need to feel the same Through darkened skies the sun still seems to know my name

My valentine
Black valentine

One man's piece of gold is another's piece of stone
Half the battle seems to be which road to try Look into these eyes, they won't betray the feeling she had given me
And I had locked away
Looks like a brand new day, a chance to find my way
Looks like I put her off, my life can't end today

My valentine
Black valentine

Want to believe in you, but you never rescued me
Which door is the truth behind and which is misery
If life was a different game, I could control the day
I could make the clock stand still and keep everyday the same
But when your dream is to fly, life has a different view
You have to believe in me and I in you

Visit Bronx Casket Co. page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.