Girl you've got lone the Girl you've got lonely written all, ha ha

Girl you've got lonely written all over you
I can read the writing from across this crowded room
All by yourself there in your world of blue
Lucky me, lonely you

Must be in the cards, fate played a part, brought us here tonight
Heaven must have lined the stars up in the sky just right

Girl you've got lonely written all over you
I can read the writing from across this crowded room
All by yourself there in your world of blue
Lucky me, lonely you

Who knows the right song, a slow dance might heal your heartache?
Somethin' tells me I don't know, I just might be here to save the day

Girl you've got lonely written all over you
I can read the writing from across this crowded room
All by yourself there in your world of blue
Lucky me, lonely you

Girl you've got, oh you've got lonely written all over you
I can read the writing from across this crowded room
All by yourself there in your world of blue
Lucky me, lucky me, lucky me, lonely you
