I can't breathe here anymore.
It's been like that for a while.
Ev'rything seems strange to me.
I feel like a newborn child.

And I know I don't belong down here,
I guess it's always been the same.
I wish I would't have to fear.

Under the water, under the water,
ou, you left me drowning.
Under the water, under the water, oh, you left me drowning.

I tried to grow a mermaids tale,
'caus here's a lot of danger.
The grey big sharks with long sharp teeth,
would love to catch a stranger.
Under the water, under the water,
uo, you left me drowning.
Under the water, under the water,
ou, you left me drowning.

Can't you see, can't you see,
that I was left to drown.
That I was left to drown,
can't you see, can't you see,
that I went deep down under,
can't you see, can't you see,
that I am deep down under.
That I was left to drown, left to drown, left to drown.
Can't you see, can't you see,
that I am deep down under,
I am deep down under,
Can't you see.
