i never think about the problems i cause i'm cotemplating your security flaws i never think about the concequences of my actions we leave a mark on everything that we touch we violated international law we really care about the time that you've lost or the lines the we've crossed we're watching you watching us would you do it if you knew we were watching would you do it if you knew that we were watching you i don't think you know whats up we're watching you
we're watching you watching us i've never seen a code that couldn't be cracked show me protection and i'll show you the hack i never worry over barriers that bar my access we're looking over the precautions you lack we make you nervous with a service attack you never know untill your systems are go that the lines been tapped

we're watching you watching us
i don't think you know whats up
i don't think you know whats up
we're watching you
we're watching you watching us
