Baby, I've been down
But never this down
I've been lost
But never this lost

This is my confession
I need your heart
In this depression
I need your heart

Baby, I've been low
But never this low
I've had my faith shaken
But never hopeless

This is my confession
I need your heart
In this depression
I need your heart

And I've always been strong
But I've never felt so weak
And all my prayers have gone for nothing
I've been without love
But never forsaken
Now the morning sun
The morning sun is breaking

This is my confession
I need your heart
In this depression
I need your heart

This is my confession
I need your heart
In this depression
I need your heart

This is my confession
I need your heart
In this depression
I need your heart
