Just don't try To reply Keep it to yourself None of your cheap lines None of your fake smiles Gimme something else

What you make and what you do can Count for what you are It's the things you believe to be true That will bring you far

You can respect yourself If you play for real There's a brand new day There's a past It's never plain and simple There's narrow greed There's fucked up deeds You know You know damn well
