Nothing else matters in the world today
You know my car won't start and there's bills to pay
I've left my summons on the bedroom floor
You know they just don't scare me anymore
All these things will change in time
Everything will turn out fine
If my prying conscience calls
I'm not home not here at all
Ooh what have you done
I'm feeling like a rebel today
Ooh what have you done
You made me believe I am someone
I've turned my back on the girl of old
You know I've packed her off with her self-control
Its written on the lines here upon my face
I guess I'm just not suited to obedience
I won't be told whats cool to wear
I won't be told I cannot swear
I make my rules as I go
I love defiance don't you know
Ooh what have you done
I'm feeling like a rebel today
Ooh what have you done
You've made me believe I am someone
Ooh what have you done
I'm feeling like a rebel today
Ooh what have you done
I'm starting to lose my direction
Ooh what have you done
Ooh what have you done
Ooh what have you done
I'm feeling like a rebel today
Ooh what have you done
I'm feeling like a rebel today
Ooh what have you done
You've made me believe I am someone
Ooh what have you done
I'm feeling like a rebel today
