"Avalon"

The time is right for the scene
Get dressed up and get in
The patriot at the door
Smiles and points to the floor
Feel the movement of the ground
Shake the walls, make the sound
Become one with all your friends
And start dancing

Don't let their words slip into your veins
And get your heart start racing again

Don't let them catch you here singing
And fall into the ground to serenade the lights and the sound
Tonight is going to catch you

The curtains open, you shake
All the people in your wake
Push to the front through the boys
With the lies they deploy
Go ahead and raise your hands
Crack a smile, make a friend
This room is boundless in static

Don't let them catch you here singing
And fall into the ground to serenade the lights and the
sound
The week has passed just for tonight
To forget all your thoughts and stimulate your beating heart
Tonight is going to catch you
