I'm the satellite
I'm flying, crossing ground
When I watch you
You'll be watching me from the solid ground

Oh, so lonely
Floating on and passing by
No one knows me
All I've ever known is the cold pair of I

I'm the satellite
I'm still there when the day breaks
You only look at me
When shadow overtakes
We only know each other
When in our darkest hour

Oh, it's so lonely out in space
Just floating on, passing by, oh
No one knows you out in space
It's all you ever know
It's all you ever will

I'm the satellite
I'm crashing at the world's edge
And I feel so disconnected
Every second is another year shedded
Broken by this error message in my head
Where am I headed?

Oh, it's so lonely out in space
Just floating on, passing by, oh
No one knows you or your place
Just pass by without a trace, yeah
It's so lonely, it's so lonely

It's so lonely out in space

I'm the satellite
Broken satellite
Sightless satellite

I'm the satellite
I'm flying far out of sight
You used to look for me
When darkness float your world
I guess we'll miss each other
For me there is no other

Oh, it's so lonely out in space
Just floating on, passing by, oh
No one knows you or your place
Space is all you know
It's all you ever will
Oh, it's so lonely out in space
It's so lonely
It's so lonely out in space

Hey there brother don't you know
That the guy upstairs left us years ago
So there ain't no fate except the one you make
And there ain't no hell except the shit you take everyday
So don't tell me life doesn't hurt
And that you don't need the people cause you've got your church
You've got to take your head out of the sky
Cause there ain't nothing there but the satellites
