There's a chill in the evening air
Carries me back to some place where
I thought I'd lost my way forever

Every dream and every plan
Every last chance slipped through my hand
And you smiled at me and it was over

Holding you tonight
Hold on tight
I try to say it right

And I guess sometimes the words don't come
And I wish I told you how you changed my life
And saved me with your love
I hope when all is said and done
You know I owe you one

Walk me down those streets again
Stop me right at the moment when
You stood there talking to a stranger

Tell me how you looked at me
And knew the very best that I could be
How did you see this happy ending?

Standing by your side
I'm still surprised
I try to say it right

That I guess sometimes the words don't come
And I wish I'd told you how you changed my life
And saved me with your love
I hope when all is said and done
You know I owe you one

One for life and one for love
And all you've given me
For the dreams you made me dream again
And all that we can be

Holding you tonight

Holding you tonight
Hold on tight
I try to say it right

I guess sometimes the words don't come
And I wish I'd told you how you changed my life
And saved me with your love
I hope when all is said and done
You know I owe you one
I owe you one

You know I owe you one
You know I owe you one
You know I owe you one
