Visit "Tears Fall" on MotoLyrics.com

I've had this same dream many times, it haunts my mind

It starts with a life but it ends every time

Oh, so many faces that this world will never see

A reason for your life but your heart will never beat

May the tears fall down

Let them soften this ground

May our hearts be found

God, forgive us now

Oh, what have we lost because we chose we'll never know

And loving You is better than feeling alone

And all our claims to freedom have become these heavy chains

And in the name rights we keep filling nameless graves

May our tears fall down

Let them soften this ground

May our hearts be found

God, forgive us now

Let the tears fall down

Let them soften this ground

Let our hearts be found

God, forgive us now
