Eventually down times will pass.
Hold up your head, they have to pass.
I'll still be here when it's clear of smoke and ash and settled tears
Don't ever want to wonder if you're stay or go
Let's just take some time spend it together till we die.
I know my feeling's true to take another look at you Between all this blue and green's the world for me and you.
Two encounters you had won my timeless train-set of thought

Some big itch and then my neck felt irritant and flush.
The best of me was coming out with your perfume
And I would go, go to any length it takes me to just know
I never let you down

Don't ever want to wonder if you're stay or go
Let's just take some time spend it together till we die.
I know my feeling's true to take another look at you Between all this blue and green's the world for me and you.
