Should've known better to crave a tune better Than what's offered on the menu hard to find Appetite
And do me a favor - don't mention your savior
I gotta low attention span to listen
To some false reflective hypocrite
Show me a faith that's supergluing shattered thoughts

A falling sky could be a heavy weight to hold up high
When you're down underneath some louder cry
When nothing seems too far away
Redemption find another way To persuade me wrong I think a lot of bad thoughts in a day
To make me gloom and starved for something more

I don't already have I want more to score a friend a or foe

Influential mystical persons seem afriad
Of being opposite of a prodigal
I'm sickened by nature bedded lies
And I've framed my sigh

Open up an eye or two
And see it's taken me adjustment of a heart that's running from
A molded prime example of society
And normal pleasures in a home
And if it makes any difference now of when I learn a lesson
Or forget just how to jump
Hold back
Hold back
Hold back
