Crack the door and look around
To find out what's inside this one
Drink until the darkness comes
And carry it into the sun

Hold the flame and feel the burning
Does it make you close your eyes?
All this time when you weren't there
And didn't know

I just can't live without you
Just can't breathe at all without you
Never wanna go away
Cause I can't get my mind around

Fates says sometimes hold it up
You shake until it hurts
And now you're all inside yourselves
But somehow I don't share your pain

It feels the same without the hurting
Do you think you'll be alright?
All this time when we weren't there
And didn't know
