Your picture on my wall on my wall is still the colors are bright bright the red is strong as ever the blue is true some things last a long time is still on my wall on my wall some things last a long time your picture I think often about you some things last a long time often I can't forget all the things we did some things last a long time it's funny but it's true but it's not funny and it's true time comes and goes all the while I still think of you is still some things last a long time on my wall your picture on my wall bright are bright the colors as ever times that we shared all that we forget some things last a life time some things last a life time
