Locked in myself
Set in my ways
Sometimes we lie between
Invading every space
I'm wanting to be sure
That your
Flawlessly conducted, moving faster than lights should
There's a season to call for but autumn is wanting more
So much more (So much more) I'll think of a number between one and three (Between one and three)
Oh pure contradiction
Something this joy will not understand

I'm looking for the warning signs
I'm looking for the warning signs

Can you keep, can you keep a secret?
A secret I've been dying to tell
I'll keep you guessing all night
Can you keep, can you keep a secret?
A secret I've been dying to tell

I'll be your future
If you forget your past.
They will never ask
This fits just perfect
There's a new place where I lie my head

I'm looking for the warning signs
I'm looking for the warning signs

Like invisible thread
We bind together
Like our skin

Locked in myself
Set in my ways, sometimes we lie between
Invading every space
Our chances are far and few
