I refuse to rot from the inside become a part of what was whole corrupting my sense of being and my own self worth I take back my self control
i always said i never want to live that way please let me die, before i stop living it's through these times i am reborn

You made me what i am today through all these lies and deception i could have lived a thousand lives and never felt that kind of pain but what i lived through will empower me until my final days through these lies i am reborn rebirth

I now rise from the ashes of what you thought that you destroyed with new found conviction and new found self worth

its through these times i am reborn this is my time of rebirth
