"Anchors"

Weighed in the balances
While night invests the sea
No god awaits, no god awaits
Still conscious as I bleed
Cast through waning memories
A greater love, a greater love
The only air I need

This will never end
Where these scars wrote stories
I'll hold this forever with Northern Eyes

And I will never lose faith again
And I will never lose faith again

Where would we be without these anchors?
You can't quite believe oceans never ending

Ecliptic and shadowless
My hour of disdain
No god awaits, no god awaits
Still conscious as I bleed
Cast through waning memories
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart
In oceans never ending

This will never end
Where these scars wrote stories
I'll hold this forever with Northern Eyes

And I will never lose faith again
And I will never lose faith again

Where would we be without these anchors?
You can't quite believe oceans never ending

This will never end
Where these scars wrote stories
I'll hold this forever with Northern Eyes

Night will never look same!

Where would we be without these anchors?
You can't quite believe oceans never ending
Where would we be without these anchors?
You can't quite believe oceans never ending
Without this truth, without this truth

Without this truth
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart
Anchor
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart

Without this truth
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart
Anchor
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart

Without this truth
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart
Anchor
Anchors of hope, anchor my heart
