We look up to the sky
See the darkness come
You begin to cry
And think everything is done

But don't stop to believe in you
Fight against the pain
It's difficult to feel it too
I hope we stop the rain

We find them
And bring them back to hell

You went alone home
No one heard you
They followed you and observed you
And they just saw you

They catch you, they hit you
They pull you down to the ground
It hurts you, you cry loud:
Fuck me you can't take my soul

We find them
And bring them back to hell

Can't remember where the good days all gone
So we're searching for each other 'cause we belong
Together
We can fight against the world
Forever
They will cry for themselves

And they run and run, run and run
Don't no where they gone
And they finally look to the sun
And don't know what they've done

Do you feel the pain?
In her heart
Feel the pain!

Can't remember where the good days all gone
So we're searching for each other 'cause we belong
Together
We can fight against the world
Forever
They will cry for themselves
