Do you see the sorrow that has reflected in this broken mirror

Do you see the hatred that has reflected in her losing eyes

I can see it

I can feel it

I can hear it every day

How can we stop it what can we do now to put a smile on her face

We try to find them and let them feel the pain

She has to feel now and throw them far away

Yes we will find them and let them suffer every day

Yes we will find them and throw them far away

You don't have to stay alone in this cruel world

We will be on your side

Can you hear the symphony we wrote for you

I hope it will save you (it will save you)

And she takes care now

So don't look back

Just let her life begin

Now she loves it to smile not crying

And she feels like reborn in a new world

'Cause we have found them and now they feel the pain

She had to feel oh they suffer every day

Yes now we've found them and we torture them every day

Yes we have found them and now they're far away

You don't have to stay alone in this cruel world

We will be on your side

Can you hear the symphony we wrote for you

I hope it will save you (it will save you)

You don't have to stay alone in this cruel world

We will be on your side

Can you hear the symphony we wrote for you

I hope it will save you

You don't have to stay alone in this cruel world

We will be on your side

Can you hear the symphony we wrote for you
I hope it will save you (it will save you)
