if i could change your mind and take away the math that brought this ship to sail that brought this ship to fall before the world was made in light in dark in care and maybe you and i were right there it was you Eleanor not afraid to fall for falling's just a game you play you land on all fours anyway and when the night is through you will be too we'll meet under the dock, under the moon and sail across the sea and galaxies it was you Eleanor not afraid to fall falling's just a game we play we land on all fours anyway how marvelous in flight in force i'll cry again everytime you go i'll hold until the end comes back Eleanor it's you not afraid to fall falling's just a game
