In every city light
In every baby's smile
I see a different age,
A different time

A woman has a child
An old man says goodbye
A superhero
Saves another life

This is the day we all have been waiting for
This is the day we all have been living for
This is the day we all have been fighting for so long
Now stay, please let it stay

In every stone around
In every summer night
I see another shape,
Another style

I look into the past
At all of my mistakes
But all I see
Are distant memories

This is the day we all have been waiting for
This is the day we all have been living for
This is the day we all have been fighting for so long
Now stay, please let it stay

In pools of tears (stay with me, please stay)
And every time I'm wrong (stay with me today)
At every need (stay forever, stay)
And when my time has come

This is the day we all have been waiting for
This is the day we all have been living for
This is the day we all have been fighting for so long
Now stay, please let it stay

This is the day

This is the day
